EPD introduced an innovative portable "acoustic camera" to be used to investigate industrial and commercial noise. EPD can "see" and locate the noisiest sources at a glance! It is particularly useful in locating the major noise sources in complicated environments, dark conditions and situations with multiple noise sources. With the portable "acoustic camera", investigators of the EPD have successfully handled about 100 complaints about complicated industrial and commercial noises in the past two years. The efficiency of related investigations has been greatly improved.
